Women Strike Offices

By Craig Cramm

A radical feminist group, calling themselves WITCH, has claimed responsibility for the "trashing" of halls and outer offices in the Administration building Tuesday night.

An anonymous caller told the Gateway at 7:35 p.m. the spraying of painted slogans on the walls and doors outside the Chancellor's office, the wall adjoining Provost Garfinkel's office, and several hallways was in retaliation for the "unresponsiveness" by Chancellor Roskens and his administration.

The caller said the group was going to chant a hex against the Chancellor, and hoped to cause misfortune for Roskens.

The anonymous caller said the "attacks on the Administration building were planned to coincide with Women's strike day." The Gateway was told the group plans more retaliatory action in the near future, though the only action promised is the chanting of a hex.

The slogan "Alice doesn't" is part of the slogan used for Women's Rights Day.

Stephanie Toothaker, vice president for the (Omaha chapter) National Organization of Women (NOW), disclaimed any knowledge of the group calling themselves WITCH.

Toothaker said, "There is no such group in Omaha by that name."

Toothaker said the persons claiming responsibility for the vandalism may have picked the name up from a recent newspaper article which referred to the organization.

Toothaker said NOW 'definitely has nothing to do' with any organization going by the name WITCH.

Chancellor Roskens, contacted on campus, said he had received no previous mail or phone communications from the organization claiming responsibility for the vandalism.

Asked whether he had any idea why his office was vandalized, Roskens said, "no, no idea at all. This is the first I've heard of it."

Asked what he thought about the threat to "cast a spell of misfortune" on him, Roskens said, "I'll have to take it as it arrives."

Sandy Baxter, a graduate student in women's history provided a historical background on the group known as WITCH. She said it was founded on Halloween night in New York in 1968.

The vandalism, occurring during the middle of evening classes, caused little stir. Those people the Gateway spoke with who noticed the painted walls and slogans could not say when the acts occurred or by whom. (Continued on Page 8)

According to Sandy Baxter, the acronym WITCH may take on a number of different meanings.

Baxter said, "Each coven takes words depending on what sort of action they want to take."

Among the translations for WITCH:

- Womens International Terrorists Conspiracy from Hell
- Women Interested in Toppling Consumption Holidays
- Women Inspired to Commit Her Story
- Women Independent Taxpayers, Consumers, and Home-makers.

From Sisterhood is Powerful, an anthology of documents from the Women's Liberation Movement edited by Robin Morgan, comes the following verse:

Double bubble, war and rubble
When you mess with women you'll be in trouble.
We're convicted of murder if abortion is planned
Convicted of sham if we don't have a man
Convicted of conspiracy if we fight for our rights, and burned at the stake when we stand up to fight.

Double bubble, war and rubble
When you mess with women, you'll be in trouble.
We curse your empire to make it fall,
When you take on one of us you take on us all.

Lyons Loses Senatorial Bid In Court's Ruling

By C. F. Bisbee

After three separate meetings Tuesday — including a three-hour public hearing lasting until 12:15 a.m. Wednesday morning — the Student Court, on a 4-1 vote, upheld the disqualification of freshman student senate candidate Mary Lyons by the Election Commission.

Election Commissioner Vivi Ann Filipcic said Lyons was disqualified for distributing "campaign literature" two days before the senate elections, in "clear violation of the election rules."

Filipcic cited section III, subsection "d" of the 1976 senate election rules, which says:

"Other campaign literature will be limited to flyers, no larger than 8½ by 11 inches, which promote a candidate but do not degrade other candidate(s). All information on flyers must be accurate. These flyers are to be distributed on a person-to-person basis. Flyers cannot be distributed except on the days of the elections. They may not be posted on cars or in the parking lots."

Lyons, 18, running for one of the two open freshman seats on the student senate, admitted to passing out sheets Monday morning stating her position on "campus issues," but denied the sheets were "campaign literature."

Lyons pointed to Section III, subsection "a" of the election rules, which says:

"There shall be no restrictions on the candidate in regard to any speeches, debates, or other verbal communication during the campaign. (This is to allow candidates to appear before campus organizations, student rallies, open debates, and other verbal communications media during the campaign)."

In two different briefs filed before the Student Court, Lyons contended that "verbal"

Bellows Sees Parity Allies

By Dick Ulmer

Like it or not, the NU regents will hear more discussion of the UNO-UNL parity issue when they meet next Friday in Lincoln.

"I've brought it up at nearly every meeting since I was elected (last March)", said Student Body President/Regent Clint Bellows, "and I intend to keep bringing it up until something happens."

This time, Bellows said, he should have some allies in UNO administrators Chancellor Ronald Roskens and Vice Chancellor Ronald Beer. The month's issue: the student fee hike Bellows sees as another manifestation of unequal state support for UNO.

"I agree with Vice Chancellor Beer on this one," Bellows said, "we don't feel UNO students should be paying for things UNL students aren't paying for."

Those items include physical plant improvements such as remodeling, repair, tree removal and parking lot paving, said Bellows. Beer told the Gateway last week that the administration has used student fees for such projects because the state's appropriation to the UNO physical plant budget (line 783) has been inadequate.

Much of the $12 fee increase for full-time students and $6 for part-timers could be avoided if fees were not being spent for improper items, Beer said.

The blame for this "misuse" of student fees can not be placed solely with UNO administrators, Bellows said. When budgets are short, they "have to pay their bills from somewhere."

Bellows said he is confident the administration will present a united front with him on the fee issue and may agree to a compromise before the question reaches the regents. "If we could get them to cut it (the proposed increase) in half, I'd be satisfied," he said.

According to Bellows, the ultimate answer to the fee problem and other UNO-UNL "disparities" is equal funding for the two campuses from the legislature. This, he said, is the crux of the parity issue — "UNO students ought to be paying for the same percentage of their education as UNL students are."

According to a report compiled by a legislative fiscal analyst, this has not been the case. Released early this year (Gateway, February 26), analyst Richard Burbach's report showed 18.5 per cent of UNL's income coming from tuition while 36 per cent of UNO's income was derived from that source.

Even with some statistical evidence, Bellows said he has had a difficult time igniting student and community interest in the parity issue. "To begin with," he said, "it's a difficult issue to understand — I've been working on it for seven months now and I still don't fully understand it."

According to Bellows, it's also tough to "get people excited about parity because it's not something that can be seen, like parking. But it is something that's continually undermining this institution. It may frustrate me. It might make me mad. But I intend to keep pushing."

Ozaki 'Optimistic' Over Social Work's Chances

"Optimistic" is the word School of Social Work Acting Director Ronald Ozaki used Tuesday to describe the school's chances of retaining accreditation at a "show case" hearing scheduled for Nov. 11 and 12 in New York.

"I'm pretty optimistic accreditation can be kept," Ozaki said. "We've put together a solid document that outlines our defense."

The national Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) informed UNO in May the school would lose accreditation unless alleged deficiencies in the program were corrected. The CSWE, monitoring the school since 1967, charged:

—the school lacked minority-group faculty members

—UNO had shown "a visible lack of financial support" for the school

—not enough minority-group students were admitted to the school

—problems existed in having a social work degree program on both the UNO and UNL campuses while administration was headquartered in Omaha

Ozaki said the school's defense will be centered around the hiring of more faculty since the May report, a higher priority given to the school by University Systems President D. B. Varner, and the move of the entire school to the Omaha campus, slated to be complete by the beginning of the 1976-77 academic year.

A representative from the student-organized ad hoc Committee on Social Work Accreditation will also attend the hearing to "show student support for the school," Ozaki said. The Board of Regents approved a student request to have a social work student at the hearing at their October meeting.

"The financial crunch on social work is not limited to this university alone," Ozaki said. "I just returned from a national social work conference and schools all over the country have the same problem."

Urban Studies Assistant Dean Robert McCune told the meant "written, as well as oral communication."

The election rules were passed by the student senate in March, according to Student Body Vice President Julie Morehead.

Lyons said she did not "receive word of my disqualification from the race until 4 p.m. Monday." Filipcic said that while she saw the sheets in the student center lounge Monday morning, the "delay" in notifying Lyons of her disqualification "was because I had to get the entire Election Commission together, and I had problems in telephoning them and getting them together."

A copy of the sheets obtained by the Gateway shows them to be headlined, in capital letters, "Freshman Student Senator Candidate Plans, by Mary Lyons." The sheets then detail Lyons' opinions on "a voting student regent", parking, the proposed downtown educational center, and the proposed student fee increase.

Filipcic said the Election Commission held this to be "campaign literature." Lyons said it was not "campaign literature," but "some opinions passed out by an interested student."

The Student Court initially heard Lyons' petition, seeking to overturn the Election Commission's decision, at 11:00 a.m. Tuesday morning. Meeting in closed session, the court upheld the commission's decision on a 4-1 vote.

At that time, Chief Justice Allan Ziebarth said, "It's not necessarily a popular decision, but I think it's fair. We based our decision on the petition she filed and the information we had. When you sign an appeal petition, you agree to abide by the court's decision, although you have the right to appeal that decision outside the student process."

Lyons alleged in her petition that "verbal" in subsection "a" meant "oral and written communication" and that the sheets did "not promote my candidacy."

According to Lyons, newly-appointed Ombudsman Harvey Leavitt advised her to appeal the court's decision. Leavitt was not available for comment.

The court met again at 4:00 p.m. Tuesday afternoon to consider the appeal. It was decided to convene a public hearing on the matter at 9:00 p.m. that evening. Justice Mark Bowen told the Gateway.

At the hearing, Filipcic and Lyons made formal opening statements. Both appeared without legal counsel and neither moved to dismiss any of the five justices when given the opportunity to do so by Ziebarth.

Filipcic, however, did lodge a protest, saying, "this second petition is not as strong as the first. The court has already dismissed the first petition and I see no need for the court to hear the case again."

Lyons played a tape recording by State Senator Ernest Chambers, which said in part: "I'm making this statement for Mary Lyons, who has been disqualified from running for a position in the student government. Verbal, as held by the law, means oral as well as written statements. Election laws are meant to be liberally interpreted. It's not proper and it's too late in the game to dismiss her (Lyons) because of written words."

Justice Pat Krick asked for Lyons' definition of campaign literature.

"If I said anywhere 'I'd appreciate your vote', or if I said 'If I'm elected' then it would be campaign literature. But the sheet doesn't say that anywhere. It's a newsletter," Lyons explained.

Justice Eileen Stark asked "if the word 'candidate' denotes you're running for office."

"No, it's a title," Lyons replied. "When the printer came to get the sheet he said, 'hey, there's no title on here.' I told him what I was campaigning for and he put the title in. But I don't think that qualifies it as 'campaign literature'."

Although not written into the rules, Filipcic said "it's the commission's discretion to examine literature and see if it's in violation of the rules. Because she (Lyons) used the word 'candidate' and because the literature was distributed two days before the campaign, we disqualified her as a candidate."

Lyons said she had checked the literature "with someone in the (student government) office I thought was part of the Election Commission." Lyons, however, was unable to identify the person whom she claimed to have spoken to.

An exchange between the two revealed that they did not personally know each other.

Filipcic was asked if the literature would be "campaign material" if "just a name" was printed on the sheet.

"That's questionable," she answered. "If that were the case, I think we'd ask the person to stop. It would be a disadvantage to other candidates."

Filipcic said that copies of the election rules are given to all candidates, but specifics "aren't gone over unless they (the candidates) ask."

Lyons said at the hearing, "if an incumbent circulates a newsletter, that's okay, but it's not okay when someone running for the first time does the same thing."

Filipcic said she had "objections to a number of the rules, but it's not my job to interpret, only to enforce." Justice Bill Schiffbauer told Filipcic "it's not necessary to go into your objections."

Stark, reading the court's decision to uphold the Election Commission action, said, "It's the ultimate responsibility of every candidate to inform themselves of the rules. We find the petitioner (Lyons) to be negligent."

Krick, reading the minority opinion, said, "The Election Commission and the Student Court are in error, since there is no succinct definition of what 'campaign literature' is."

Election Commission member John Grubbs said "the rules were received too late; we didn't get them until last week."

Guest Editorial — Bellows

Clint Bellows — I Am For You

Having been elected by a small sampling of the UNO populace, mainly, the Greek sector, I would have to say that Harry Truman would have been quite proud of this good, honest Student Body President Clint Bellows. Considering the many obstacles that have hindered and completely called a halt to your many praiseworthy ideas that would be for the good of all at UNO, including the university itself — these obstacles being our administration, your vice-president, and our Gateway (which was open enough to print this article) — you have fared quite well. I do feel that the majority of the UNO students, and that majority is quite larger than those occupying the "Caboose," are quite pleased with your work. You have weathered quite well the bumps and bruises of your office and because of them you have grown. You have time and time again stuck out your neck for the betterment of UNO. You have suffered and even been ridiculed by your friends. "Beware of Greeks bearing gifts."

Clint, in my sound judgment you have acted, but your hands were tied. I know that the students, if they could have, would have untied them so that you could have completed the good things you had in store for UNO. Your hands, however, were tied by an administration that is not accountable for its reasoning and a running mate that is just there. Our school is made up mostly of uninformed part-time students, and this added to your problems. I hope now you realize just how little respect or power, to do for the good of others, your title of Student Body President has meant. God only knows that had you been left to act how much better off UNO would have been.

You're not alone, Clint. Look at President Ford. He is President of the United States, yet eighty-one year old George Meany is far more powerful, so powerful that he can close down the United States at a moment's notice. Clint, your problem is an ancient one. "The good die young." Lenny Bruce, as victim of an unchanging time, could have been the highly successful George Carlin of today. His hands were tied; he was killed also by an administration, a newspaper, and sometimes his wife. They were wrong in many cases, yet how do you say I'm sorry for kicking you in the face and making you appear to be useless.

Well, Clint, I won't be wrong now, and I won't be wrong in saying that by a long shot you're the greatest president UNO or the old OU has ever had.

Thankfully yours,
Greg Cavalleri

JACK ANDERSON — WEEKLY SPECIAL

Skepticism of the Warren Report

WASHINGTON — President Ford's closest advisors are alarmed over the Congressional investigations of the John F. Kennedy assassination. They fear the President's name may be linked with yet another cover-up.

The President, then a House Republican leader, was an active member of the Warren Commission, which determined that Kennedy was killed by Lee Harvey Oswald alone.

But opinion polls and letters pouring into the White House show that a majority of Americans don't believe the Warren report. Neither, apparently, do some prominent Senators and Congressmen who have launched in-depth probes of the Warren Commission's findings.

For example, Senators Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., and Gary Hart, D-Colo., — both members of the special CIA Committee — have begun an investigation of the Kennedy assassination. Schweiker has announced they will take a look at three different theories that would explain the affair, and he has already predicted that the Warren report "will collapse" under intense examination.

He doesn't believe the Commission deliberately published a false report, Schweiker told us, but he suspects they were misled by the FBI and the CIA.

President Ford himself heatedly disagrees with Schweiker's attitude. In his private talks with advisors, he has fiercely defended the Warren Commission's findings. He believes they covered up nothing.

His own conscience, Ford has insisted to intimates, is completely clear. He was a Republican on a Commission appointed by Lyndon Johnson. He therefore looked upon himself as a protector of the "minority interests" and attempted to be the group's gadfly. He spent more time examining the available evidence than any other member of the Commission.

White House insiders, however, view Sen. Schweiker as a maverick. Anything he turns up that disagrees with the Warren Report, say our sources, will put President Ford in a bad light.

Fairly or unfairly, Ford will be associated with a cover-up. In the aftermath of the Nixon Administration's Watergate coverup, this would spell disaster for the Republican Party.

Indeed, some White House cynics fully expect the Democrats to use anything the Congressional probe turns up as an excuse to paint the GOP as the "Cover-up Party."

Grain Complaints: Despite the Ford Administration's official elation over the Soviet-American deal to swap our grain for their oil, some top policymakers have nagging reservations.

They feel that President Ford, in his eagerness to strike a bargain with the Soviets, may have been outdone by them.

Under the terms of the arrangement, for example, the Russians can buy at least 8 million tons of grain a year from the U.S. Some federal economists suspect, moreover, that the way the agreement is worded may permit Moscow to buy as much as 10 million tons annually.

Thus there is a chance that the Russians once again will wreck havoc on the American economy.

Our sources are also disturbed over Ford's failure to come up with a Russian commitment to supply the U.S. with any appreciable amounts of oil.

The Soviets, concerned about their image with their Arab allies, drove a hard bargain. The United States, which consumes 17 million barrels of oil each day, can buy only 200,000 barrels daily from the Soviets.

Some experts are convinced the Russians agreed to supply the U.S. with this insignificant amount only as a means of salvaging the President's pride. He had boasted publicly that the pending deal with the Soviets would provide "good insurance against Mideast oil decisions."

Other government economists question the wisdom of the U.S. becoming even slightly dependent on Russian oil. It is much better, they argue, to be dependent on traditional allies like Saudi Arabia than on a declared enemy.

Bad News For Agnew: Former Vice President Spiro Agnew might be in the news again, and that's bad news for Agnew.

It seems that an Agnew crony landed a whopping $45 million lease from the government for some office space in Washington. As part of the deal, he was to provide a cafeteria in one of the buildings.

But that was four years ago, and the government employees who work in the building complex still have to trot out to the local deli for lunch.

Now the FBI is investigating the whole government leasing operation. They want to find out whether political favorites were handed government leases.

Their findings may put Agnew back in the news.

Under the Dome: Sam Steiger, the redoubtable Republican from Arizona, has found a way to economize on his airport parking costs. He recently parked his black Mercedes at a Dulles International Airport meter and left it there for over a week. His parking ticket was cordially emblazoned with this stamp: "Void — U.S. Representative." This is the second time we have caught Steiger abusing his parking privileges. Other citizens are routinely ticketed and towed out of the meter zone.

— Freshman Congressman Jerry Patterson, D-Calif., recently sent out fund-raising appeals to shipping and banking magnates. These are the very industries whose activities he oversees as a member of the House Merchant Marine and Banking committees. Patterson insisted to us that his fund letters created no ethical problems for him.

— A mysterious white Cadillac bearing the license plate "CIA-1" has been showing up in Capitol Hill parking lots lately. We were sufficiently intrigued to check on the owner, who turned out to be former Congressman John Hunt, a CIA buff and World War II intelligence expert.

Football Field Gets Workout

Local high schools are utilizing one of the University of Nebraska's "community-oriented services" by renting the Al Caniglia Memorial Stadium for their football games, said UNO Athletic Director Don Leahy.

According to Leahy, for $375 any area high school can play football on the astro-turf. The package includes: the services of Campus Security, the use of the scoreboard, access to the locker-room facilities, the use of the public address system, and personnel for both the locker room and the operation of the scoreboard.

The contract sells for the field to be used roughly between the hours of 6:30 and 9:30, said Leahy.

Leahy pointed out that the accessibility of the field for high school sporting events is a "fine community service." According to him, it helps the university in two ways. "This policy shows that the university is community oriented, and it also is a great recruiting aid for UNO."

Leahy estimated that 15,000 high school students will set foot on the campus to view their high school's play during this football season. "When these students come to the campus they will be able to see the university, and the building that is currently being done. It might make them want to check into the university a little closer," he said.

"By no means does the Athletic Department get one penny of the money charged for the field," said Leahy. "The money goes into the Fieldhouse Utilization Budget, which goes to maintain the upkeep of the facilities," he added.

Leahy said that $125 of the money goes to pay Campus Security, while the other $250 is put into the fund. "It costs $200 just to clean the stadium after the game," Leahy said.

The only profit the Athletic Department can lay claim to is the receipts from the concession stands. "We can make $100 on a good night or just 15¢ on a poor one," Leahy said.

Leahy said that the university must more-or-less offer this benefit because of the stipulation the State Legislature imposed when allocating the

Dyas Plans Run for Senate

By Roger Catlin

Hess Dyas of Lincoln told a gathering at County Surveyor Lou Lamberty's home Monday his plans for running — and winning — the United States Senate seat currently held by Roman Hruska in next year's election.

Dyas, longtime head of the state Democratic organization and loser in last year's congressional race against incumbent Charles Thone, told the crowd of about 50 mostly former Lamberty campaign workers, he'll include a 1500 mile walk across the state in his campaign, which will actively begin in January.

"I'll walk it all in one sweep," he said, "or, if Zorinsky gets in the race, it will be an abbreviated walk from Scottsbluff down the Platte Valley to Omaha."

The possibility of Omaha Mayor Edward Zorinsky switching to the Democratic party in order to beat John Y. McCollister, Republican house member currently favored by Hruska to replace him, was a possibility that haunted Dyas' speech all evening.

The meeting, held to get early Omaha supporters for his campaign, was concerned largely with the race itself.

All the while Dyas soft-spokenly leaned against a dining room chair and spoke into the smoke-filled living room, names and phone numbers were being gathered by his supporters.

Dyas named briefly three issues which he said his campaign will concern itself with:

- the energy crisis
- the related rise of prices and the state of the economy
- "a government that doesn't work — that's unresponsive to the people."

"I'm sure McCollister will be talking about fiscal responsibility during this campaign," he said. "But what kind of fiscal responsibility does he mean? The kind that will mean cutting human services while not touching defense budgets?"

Talking in another area, he said meekly that "though terms like these begin to sound like clichés after awhile," redistribution of wealth, a checking of the power and interests and returning government to the people will be concerns of his campaign.

A thirteen-page pamphlet, titled "Why Hess Dyas will be Elected to the U.S. Senate," was handed out to some. In it, the reasons given were:

—State voter registration trends showing the GOP advantage to be shrinking to where it may be "even" by 1976.

—Campaign spending reforms which puts a $360,000 ceiling on expenditures while "McCollister could raise and spend at least twice that amount."

—McCollister "does not have statewide name recognition."

—Senator Curtis and Hruska's unpopularity (according to Dyas polls) will rub off on McCollister "to a large degree."

—"The organizational strength of Dyas' Campaign" whose outlined plans take up nearly three pages in the pamphlet.

—Finally, "The Issues." McCollister's voting record on 32 different bills over the past four years are offered in this section, though Dyas' specific stands are omitted.

In answer to questions from the potential Dyas volunteers gathered, the candidate said he supports a national health insurance plan, favors federal aid to New York and after several comments about white-collar crime, Dyas said "I have no argument with you here."

Journalists to Discuss Plots and Politics

By Doug Simmons

Fidel Castro, the CIA and contemporary politics will be among the topics discussed by Frank Mankiewicz and Dr. Hunter S. Thompson next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom.

Mankiewicz is the author of Perfectly Clear—Nixon From Whittier to Watergate, The U.S. vs. Richard Nixon and With Fidel: A Portrait of Castro and Cuba. He also was the press secretary to the late Robert Kennedy and the National Director of the 1972 McGovern Presidential campaign.

As a journalist, Mankiewicz has a reputation of responsible and documented reporting. There is no evidence that he is insane, nor does he publicly profess to enjoy drugs such as mescaline, Wild Turkey, amphetamines or LSD.

Thompson, in contrast to Mankiewicz, is considered nuts in many circles, such as the "Columbia Journalism Review." He gained this reputation by his admitted massive consumption of dope and the invention of Gonzo Journalism.

"Gonzo" is described by Thompson as "intense, demented journalism." It was a result of an approaching story deadline and no story. Thompson, fueled by wine and cigarettes, sat down and began cranking out page after page in a frenzied rush.

The method led to works such as Fear and Loathing on the Campaign Trail '72. His political analysis in this work included a suggestion that Hubert Humphrey should be castrated so his genes could not be passed on. Thompson, at another point in the same work, blamed Edmund Muskie's drop from the presidential race on the "rumor" that he was freaking out on Ibo-gaine, a potent Brazilian amphetamine.

In addition to his political writing, Thompson has authored Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas and Hells Angels: A Strange and Terrible Saga.

Currently, he is sports editor and head of the national affairs desk for the Rolling Stone newspaper.

The Student Programming Organization is sponsoring the two speakers. Admission is $1 for students, $1.50 for UNO alumni and $2 for the general public.

Roskens Might Trim

Though Gov. Exon's proposed three per cent slice from state budgets has yet to become law, UNO administrators are already searching their budgets for trimable items, Chancellor Ronald Roskens said recently.

Roskens, who was tentatively scheduled to testify on the cutback at a hearing before the Unicameral's Budget Committee yesterday, said he directed his vice chancellors, deans and directors to begin thinking about budget cuts early "so we won't be caught unprepared" if Exon's proposal is passed by the special session of the legislature.

The special session was called when it became apparent that revenue from the state's income tax would not be sufficient to cover the expenditures approved by this year's winter session of the legislature. Exon has proposed that state budgets be cut three per cent to avoid a deficit.

Such a spending cut would be especially hard on UNO, because the campus is already underfunded, Roskens said. "There is no fat in our budget," he said, "we've never had a chance to build any in."

Not having consulted again with all his assistants, Roskens said he was not sure what areas of the university would be affected should Exon's plan be approved. "I can assure you one thing, though," he said, "we intend to dismiss people and close positions only as a last resort."

The cutback would have a "very noticeable impact" on UNO, Roskens added.

The chancellor said a reduction of three per cent at this time in the fiscal year (state budgets run from June 30 to June 30) "would actually have the effect of a four to five per cent cut." He explained that the university would be forced to decrease spending by more than three per cent to make up for that portion of the fiscal year already past.

Flash! Horniness Cure Discovered

By "Funny Fernando"
Professional Humorist

Speaking of flashing, it all started when a clan of carousers decided to unclad and go streaking through the Pep Bowl. Off they flew! Unfortunately/fortunately (depending on your sympathies), they ran right into a group of female streakers traversing the Pep Bowl from the opposite direction.

The two groups of startled streakers stared at each other. The girl streakers slowed down, but the boy streakers sped up and literally ran right into them. Another fad was born. "Strewing," as it was promptly dubbed, became the highlight of Greek Week on campus, and soon spread throughout the student body, off campus, around the country and into France.

This was the last straw (or strew) for the government. The Nebraska legislature met in emergency session and promptly passed a law forbidding Strewing. Many states followed suit and laid down the law, with the exception of New York, California, and Nevada.

But people continued to Strew and it soon became obvious that there was only one solution. The federal government appropriated eight hundred seventy nine billion dollars so scientists could develop a cure for horniness.

I won't go into a detailed explanation, but in childish oversimplification for the lay reader, essentially what the scientists did was to determine that there are two cures for horniness. Both of these cures are, unfortunately/fortunately, extremely temporary.

Then the scientists had their volunteer test subjects engage in each of these cures whenever they were stricken by horniness, and charted the neuror-ganichemorgasmeterological results on a graph, which formed a shapely curve which, when the parabola was extrapolated, revealed that for a brief period of 1.069 heart beats per beat per beat, there was a horniness level of Almost Zero. During this period, the scientists extracted blood from the subjects. This blood was whipped up in a centrifuge and stayed absolutely inert. It was then diluted in a cold shower and voila! (there!): Antihorny Serum! The glory of science! The salvation of Man!

An army of patriotic volunteers worked around the clock to produce enough serum for the entire nation. Then the serum was packaged by a major pharmaceutical firm and sold (for 5000 times the manufacturing cost) to the nation's doctors. It was made mandatory for people to have these "innocuous inoculations" to "prevent degeneration of the puritein sells in the body." The serum was called "Anti-bodies."

Horniness was virtue-ally wiped from the face of the nation. People stopped having children, and then the crime rate plummeted, as did the hunger, pollution, unemployment, and shortage problems. The economy improved. And now that people no longer "made love", they found love.

Ozaki and Optimism...

Gateway that the first day of hearings will feature formal presentations by Chancellor Ronald Roskens, Provost Herbert Garfinkel, College of Public Affairs Dean Hubert Locke, Graduate Dean Robert Woody, University Systems Vice-President Steven Sample, and a yet-un-named student from the ad hoc committee. The presentation will be made to a three-member committee which, in turn, will make a presentation to the Executive Committee of the CWSE for final determination.

Results Please Chrysler

Director of Orientation James Chrysler said he is "pleased" with the results of the evaluation questionnaire given to students who attended the orientation program before entering UNO this semester.

Chrysler said the evaluation results "are 80-90% positive," but added he is more concerned with those students who didn't fill out a questionnaire or responded negatively. He said the compiled results are based on the responses of approximately 2,200 students and estimated that about 300 to 400 students didn't fill out an evaluation questionnaire.

Of the students who attended and evaluated the orientation, 86% felt they benefited from the experience, 75% said they enjoyed it, and 88% feel that Orientation is important for all new and transfer students.

Asked if the courses students wanted to take were available, 37% responded negatively. However, this figure dropped to 20% when students were asked if they were satisfied with their fall class schedule (79% said they were satisfied and 1% didn't respond). Chrysler attributed the negative response to closed classes.

Chrysler said the 35-question evaluation indicates the important problems, as far as students are concerned, are closed classes and what many felt was a long waiting period between choosing classes and registering. He said there's little he can do about closed classes, but indicated he is working to shorten the waiting period.

Chrysler said the orientation program for the spring semester is being organized. He said there will be twelve sessions beginning January 5.

Interested students may pick up applications for "student leader" in the Orientation Office (rm. 124 of the Student Center). Student leaders help new students who attend the Orientation to schedule classes and familiarize them with UNO services, organizations, and regulations.

Chrysler said Sue Cameron has been selected as Student Director of Orientation.

Triple Dual Leaves Mavericks' Mark At 7-6

By Gregg Peck

A volleyball marathon was on tap last Tuesday in the University of Nebraska at Omaha Fieldhouse as Coach Connie Claussen's Mavericks hosted Creighton University, Concordia State College, and Kansas State in a triple dual.

The UNO women volleys lost their initial match to cross-town rival, Creighton Lady Jays, in two straight games by identical 15-11 scores.

However, in the ensuing match with Concordia, UNO fought back from a 15-11 first game deficit to pull the latter two games out 15-10, 15-11 respectively.

The Mavericks then spanked a young K-State Wildkitten club 15-8 and 15-13 to round out their seasons's statistic to seven wins and six losses; sophomore Joy Leger, an Omaha Benson product, connected on 10 consecutive serves in the final game to help ice it for the Mavericks.

"Believe it or not," said Leger, grinning: "I haven't served that good since I was in sixth grade when I made 14 in a row and messed up on the 15th one (serve)."

Leger's 20 for 33 serving accuracy was second best among the UNO women as half of a Mav sister act, red-headed Cindy Rudloff, connected on 22 of her 38 serving tries. The other half of the sister act, Lindy, a blonde, scored 18 points on 33 attempts. The Rudloffs are out of Omaha Marian High School.

Claussen was disappointed over the triple dual's sparse turnout, "but what can you do when you don't get the publicity," she added, shrugging her shoulders. "There was a lot of great volleyball played here tonight."

Claussen cited lack of consistency in her squad's serving. "It (our serving) was terrible tonight, and you can't win volleyball games without that element," Claussen explained.

The Mavericks play three important matches tomorrow in a triple dual meet at Kearney State. Claussen said that those three matches will determine, to a great extent, how well UNO will do in the Regionals on November 20-22.

Also, next Tuesday UNO will host the University of Nebraska at Lincoln volleying at 7:30 p.m. in the Fieldhouse. And it is then they'll try to avenge an earlier loss to the UNL women. If Claussen's squad wins, it will force another match with UNO to determine the top cede for the regionals.

Iowa State To Play Here

University of Nebraska at Omaha athletic officials announced Monday that the Iowa State (Ames) Cyclone basketball team will play the Mavericks in City Auditorium the afternoon of December 20.

The 2 p.m. contest was dictated by a Creighton night game in the municipal plant the same date. However, why the shift from the UNO Fieldhouse to the Auditorium?

According to an Omaha World-Herald article, it was a matter of seating. UNO Athletic boss Don Leahy said: "Our capacity is around 4,000, and I think Iowa State will draw more than that. Moving the game downtown is also a friendly gesture to lowans we anticipate will come here for the game to do some Christmas shopping."

This will be the 27th game for the Mavericks and Leahy acknowledged, "We think this is a great boost for our program and for Iowa State as well, due to their strong following in the Omaha area. We are grateful to Cyclone Coach Ken Trickey for making this possible."

Soccer

The University of Nebraska at Omaha soccer team needs only to win one of its last two games to win the Northern States Soccer Conference Championship.

The Maverick soccer club was idle this weekend while Morningside College's tie with Augustana practically gave UNO the title. Augustana was in second place with a four win—one loss record.

UNO will play Mount Marty Saturday at 2 p.m. at Al F. Caniglia Field; their second game with Northwestern (Iowa) University is being rescheduled for a later date.

Hall of Fame

Leo E. Peary, the first University of Nebraska at Omaha football all-American back in 1935, and Bill Engelhardt, the only two-time all-American in UNO football history, were the first two of this year's four inductees into the Maverick Athletic Hall of Fame.

The inductees names, being released in chronological order will officially be inducted in special ceremonies at a Hall of Fame banquet at Peony Park on November 14.

Peary earned 10 letters in three sports from 1932 through 1935, including four each in football and track, and two in basketball. As a senior, Peary earned Associated Press Little All-American honors after leading the then Omaha Cardinals to a 6-3 season including the Nebraska Intercollegiate Conference title. Peary scored 11 touchdowns that year, a record that held until the 1950's.

Following his undergraduate career, Peary joined the Omaha University coaching staff until 1939. Following World War II, Peary joined Ak-Sar-Ben until his death in 1967.

Engelhardt directed Omaha football fortunes to a combined 30-5-1 record from 1953 through 1956 including a perfect 10-0 mark in 1954 which included a 7-6 Tangerine Bowl win over Eastern Kentucky.

Engelhardt, who, at one point held or shared 21 individual school records, was the personification of the old cliché "triple threat." He rushed for 2,152 yards, passed for 3,568 yards and 36 touchdowns, punted for a 34 yard average, scored 35 TD's and a total of 237 points, kicked extra points, returned punts, and even caught five passes. He still holds the scoring record for UNO.

The establishment of an athletic Hall of Fame at UNO is through the combined efforts of the Athletic Department and the UNO Alumni Association. Joe Robbie, principal owner of the Miami Dolphins, will be the featured speaker at the banquet.

Tickets for the Hall of Fame banquet are currently on sale at $12.50 per plate and can be purchased through the UNO Athletic Department.

Maverick Head Coach Bob Hanson said: "We enjoyed a good relationship with Trickey when he was coaching at Oral Roberts, and we hope to continue that relationship. What this means to us is that a major Division I university has agreed to come to Omaha to play us, and this is an important step in the further development of our program."

Hanson added: "I'm appreciative of the fact that Coach Trickey has recognized the fact we at UNO are constantly striving to upgrade our basketball program."

Coach Hanson also thanked Doane Coach Bob Erickson for switching dates with the Mavericks from December 20 to January 19. "Coach Erickson could have held us to our original contract and he probably inconvenienced himself to give us the chance of playing Iowa State," the UNO coach explained.

UNO fans who already have bought season tickets ($30 for an announced 13 games) will be sent an additional ticket. Leahy added that combination basketball-wrestling season tickets are $35. The mat Mavericks have nine home dates and season tickets for the sport are $20.

Hanson's basketball squad will make their first home appearance this season in an exhibition game against the touring Panama Nationals.

Gridders

University of Nebraska at Omaha hopes for a 4-7 season — a figure Athletic Director Don Leahy said earlier would be excellent — appear dim as the season winds toward the close.

The Mavericks now are saddled with a six-game losing string in a 2-6 campaign. They will close with road games at Southern (La.) University this Saturday, at Indiana State Nov. 8 and come home for the finale with Jackson (Miss.) State Nov. 15.

Southern took a 7-3 decision from Alcorn A&M last Saturday, and Indiana State clobbered Illinois State, 42-13. To complete the drab picture for UNO, Jackson handed famed Grambling a 24-14 setback, its first.

"I just don't know," UNO Coach Bill Danenhauer said when asked if he would turn to freshmen in the closing three games.

He has been reluctant to press linemen into frontline service, preferring to build them physically through weight training programs and individual instruction in spring practice.

"We may have to go with some of them," Danenhauer said. "The team took a physical beating from Northern Colorado and some may not be able to go at top speed at Southern. We'll play it by ear until Wednesday or Thursday."

Clarence Elliott, 5-11, 195-pound freshman halfback in the service at Offutt AFB this time last year, is certain of seeing more duty. The injury-depleted backfield corps will dictate that move.

John Harrison, co-captain who missed two games because of an injury, saw limited action against Northern Colorado and appeared to have survived. He carried only once for two yards from his fullback position but was used more often as a blocking back.

Hockey

The University of Nebraska at Omaha Hockey Mavericks formally opened practice on Monday, October 27th for their expanded schedule for the 1975-76 season.

An initial group of 26 was on hand for the first official toil of the season for the hockey club. General Manager and Coach Jack Webster indicated that up to five additional prospects are expected to arrive from the North for tryouts before the week is out.

All hockey practice sessions are held on Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum ice and are held daily, Monday through Friday, at 12:15 p.m. Any hockey players affiliated with the university in any way who would like to try out for the team should report to the Maverick dressing room at 11:45 a.m.

Among the initial candidates for this year's Maverick hockey squad are several graduates of the Omaha Metropolitan Youth Hockey program. One of the principal reasons for expanding UNO's hockey program this year was the availability of the pool of potential talent from the local level, both now and in the future, according to Webster.

Two custodians, in charge of cleaning the corridor where most of the vandalism occurred, told the Gateway all "was quiet" at 6:30 p.m.

Custodian Ray Sodomek said, "When we came up about 6:30 p.m. to clean the Chancellor's office, there wasn't any writing anywhere."

Custodian Calvin Marion said he and Sodomek finished around 7:30 p.m. and went across the hall to the office of the vice chancellor for educational and student services.

"When we left and got out in the hall we didn't see anything. We didn't hear anyone at all out in the hall."

The culprits had not been apprehended at the time the paper went to press, and the Gateway received a number of calls from feminists in NOW, protesting the acts.

Most expressed concern that the vandalism was an attempt to discredit "Women's Strike Day," held on Wednesday.

Baxter concurred, saying it seems likely since no group has ever officially declared themselves in Omaha as being affiliated with the group WITCH.

Proposed Constitution of the Student Government Association of the University of Nebraska at Omaha

PREAMBLE

We, the students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha, wishing to promote high standards of scholarship and citizenship, to be represented in dealings with faculty, administration, community and governmental authorities, and to have one supreme student governing body, do hereby establish and ordain this constitution for the administration of student government.

ARTICLE II. NAME

The name of the association shall be the Student Government Association of the University of Nebraska at Omaha, hereinafter referred to as the SGA.

ARTICLE III. MEMBERSHIP

Section 1. All currently enrolled students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha are, by the fact of their enrollment, members of the Student Government Association. Regular membership is the only type of membership in the SGA.

Section 2. Persons no longer enrolled at UNO are ineligible for membership in the SGA.

Section 3. No regularly enrolled student in UNO may be denied membership in the SGA on the basis of race, religion, national origin, sex or age.

ARTICLE IV. ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

Section 1. The Student Government Association shall consist of three branches: the Executive Branch, the Student Senate, and the Student Court, whose duties and responsibilities are described herein.

Section 2. Each branch of the SGA has the right to provide for its own internal organization and rules of procedure, when not in conflict with the Constitution and By Laws of the Association.

ARTICLE V. OFFICERS

Section 1. The executive officers of the Student Government Association shall be the President, the Executive Assistant and the Executive Treasurer. The President of the SGA shall be elected by the Student Government Association. The Executive Assistant and the Executive Treasurer of the SGA shall be appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Student Senate of the SGA.

Section 2. The President of the SGA shall be elected by the members of the SGA on a Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the month of November and his term of office shall begin at the first meeting of the Student Senate on the following January. He shall serve for one year or until removed from office under procedures established under this Constitution. Candidates for the office of President must be members of the SGA and must be eligible to maintain such membership throughout the one year term of office. Election rules and procedures are contained in the By Laws of the Student Government Association. If the office of President is vacated, a special election must be held within forty (40) calendar days of such vacation and the election rules and procedures contained in the By Laws of the SGA shall be followed.

Section 3. Duties and Responsibilities of the President.

- To appoint eligible students to University committees, councils, boards and other agencies (except the Student Senate), with the advice and consent of the Student Senate, i.e. subject to a 2/3 vote of approval of a quorum of Student Senators at a regular or special meeting of the Student Senate.
- To appoint the justices of the Student Court, with the advice and consent of the Student Senate.
- To appoint the Executive Assistant and the Executive Treasurer of the SGA, with the advice and consent of the Student Senate.
- To establish a Budget Commission consisting of at least four Student Senators and the Executive Treasurer, with the advice and consent of the Student Senate. The Executive Treasurer shall be the chairperson of the Budget Commission.
- To introduce Executive Bills and Resolutions in the Student Senate.

- To approve or veto all written resolutions of the Student Senate, except those resolutions pertaining to his own actions, e.g. resolution to censure, admonish or reprimand for nonfeasance, misfeasance or malfeasance in office, and resolutions for his impeachment. Vetoed resolutions must be presented to the Student Senate at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Senate. Presidential vetoes may be overridden by a 2/3 majority vote of a quorum of Student Senators at a regularly or specially scheduled meeting of the Student Senate.
- To represent the students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha at all meetings of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska. The Speaker of the Student Senate, when acting as President of the SGA, may not so represent the students of UNO.

- To perform such functions and duties as shall be assigned to him by the Student Senate, in so far as such assigned duties and responsibilities are to be performed for the student body as a whole and not exclusively for the Student Senate.

Section 4. Duties and Responsibilities of the Executive Assistant.

- To assume those duties and responsibilities delegated to him by the President, when not in contravention with the rules, Constitution and By Laws of the Student Government Association or the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska.
- To assume the duties and responsibilities of the President during his absence, when such assumption is approved by both the President and the Speaker of the Student Senate and when in conformity with the laws of the State of Nebraska and the By Laws of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska.
- To sit as an ex-officio non-voting member of the Student Senate.

Section 5. Vacancies in the Executive Branch.

- If the office of President of the SGA is vacated by reason of death, resignation or removal from office under the provisions of this Constitution, the Speaker of the Student Senate shall temporarily serve as the Acting President until the election of a President under the provisions of this Constitution. When the Speaker of the Student Senate is acting in the capacity of the President he shall have the duties and responsibilities described in Section 3 of this article, except that he shall not represent the students of the University at meetings of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska.
- If the offices of Executive Assistant or Executive Treasurer are vacated by reason of death, resignation or removal from office under the provisions of this Constitution, the offices shall be filled as prescribed in Section 3.c. of this article.

Section 6. Removal from Office.

- The President may be removed from office only through impeachment proceedings as prescribed in this Constitution.
- Malfeasance in office or a ruling of the Student Court on matters concerning election irregularities are the only acts by which the President may be removed from office.
- The Executive Assistant or Executive Treasurer may be removed from office by their appointing authority, the President, or for malfeasance in office as prescribed in this Constitution. Removal from office by the President must be by reason of failure to perform prescribed functions as stated in this Constitution or the By Laws of the Student Government Association.
- Malfeasance is defined as the commission of an act which is positively unlawful; the doing of an act which is totally wrongful and unlawful; the doing of an act which a person ought not to do at all or the unjust performance of some act which the party had no right or which he had not contracted to do; comprehensive term including any wrongful conduct that affects, interrupts or interferes with the performance of official duties.
- Wrongful act is defined as an act in violation of this Constitution or By Laws.

ARTICLE VI. LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

Section 1. The legislative branch of the Student Government Association shall be the Student Senate.

Section 2. The Student Senate shall consist of 32 Senators representing students in the following University classes, colleges, schools and divisions: freshman, sophomore, junior, senior and graduate classes; the Graduate College; the College of Continuing Studies; the College of Arts and Sciences; the College of Engineering and Technology; the College of Business Administration; the College of Education; the College of Home Economics; the College of Public Affairs and Community Service; the School of Fine Arts; and the University Division. Two Senators shall be elected from each of the five classes. Each of the remaining colleges, schools and divisions shall be represented by at least one Student Senator. The remaining twelve (12) Senate seats shall be apportioned according to the enrollment in each educational unit of the University. The apportionment of the Student Senate seats shall be made annually by the Student Senate on the basis of the Enrollment during the Spring semester.

Section 3. Election of the Student Senators representing the following educational units of the University shall be held at the same time as the election of the President of the SGA: freshman class, College of Continuing Studies, College of Public Affairs and Community Service, and University Division. Election of Student Senators representing the following educational units of the University shall be held during the Spring semester in March:

sophomore, junior, senior and graduate classes; Graduate College; College of Arts and Sciences; College of Engineering and Technology; College of Business Administration; College of Education; College of Home Economics; and the School of Fine Arts.

Section 4. Student Senators shall serve a term of one year from the date of election, and in no case beyond graduation from an undergraduate or graduate program of the University.

Section 5. Any member in good standing of the SGA is eligible for the office of Student Senator. To represent a college, school or division, a candidate for the Student Senate must be enrolled in the college, school or division whose seat he wishes to fill at the time of the election. To represent a class (freshman, sophomore, junior, senior or graduate), the candidate for office must be a member of that class during the semester during which he will serve a major portion of his term of office, i.e. at least six months of a one year term of office.

Section 6. Student Senate vacancies shall be filled by interim appointments from eligible applicants approved by a simple majority of a Student Senate quorum. Senators appointed to fill an unexpired term of a vacated seat shall serve until the next regularly scheduled election.

Section 7. A Student Senate seat may be vacated through death, resignation, impeachment or failure to meet the attendance rules of the Student Senate, as established in the By Laws of the Association.

Section 8. A Student Senator may be removed from office only through impeachment proceedings prescribed by this Constitution. Malfeasance in office shall be the only grounds for impeachment of a Student Senator.

Section 9. The Student Senate shall convene to conduct business at least once each month of the three academic semesters (Fall, Spring and Summer). More frequent meetings of the Student Senate shall be determined by a majority of the Senate during the first meeting after the elections in November and March. Special meetings may be called by a majority of the Student Senators or by petition of at least 10% of the votes cast by students during the last election. The time and dates of Senate meetings shall be determined by a simple majority vote of the Senators.

Section 10. A quorum to conduct business during a regular or special meeting of the Student Senate shall be a simple majority of those Senators in office.

Section 11. The internal organization of the Student Senate and its rules of procedure shall be prescribed in the By Laws of the Association.

Section 12. The duties and responsibilities of the Student Senate shall be:

- To prescribe the time, place and manner of holding elections for elective offices within the Student Government Association.
- To determine its internal structure and rules of procedure.
- To grant initial recognition of student organizations petitioning the Student Senate for such recognition under the rules and procedures prescribed in the By Laws of the Association.
- To create and dissolve agencies of student government under conditions prescribed in the By Laws of the Association.
- To grant or deny approval of all student organization fund raising activities on the campus of the University.
- To oversee the activities of all on-campus University committees, councils, boards and other agencies on which there is student representation, when such student representatives were initially approved by the Student Senate in its function to advise and consent to the nominations submitted by the Executive Branch of the SGA.
- To be the students' final approving authority for the allocation of that portion of the Student Activity Budget which has been delegated to the student governing in accordance with the By Laws of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska.
- To petition the Faculty Senate, the administration of the University and its officers, any person or agency within the University of Nebraska system and outside the University system for redress of grievances.
- To prepare articles of impeachment against members of the Executive Branch, the Legislative Branch and the Judicial Branch of student government.
- To remove from office any Student Senator who fails to adhere to the attendance or eligibility rules prescribed in the By Laws of the Association, such removal being subject to a 2/3 affirmative vote of Student Senators in office.
- To formulate policies, by laws, and rules of procedure which are proper and necessary for executing the foregoing powers of the Senate, and such other powers and responsibilities vested in the Student Senate through the provisions of the Constitution and By Laws of the SGA or the By Laws of the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska.

Section 13. Speaker of the Student Senate.

The Speaker of the Student Senate shall be elected by a majority of the student Senators within one month after the March elections. The duties and responsibilities of the Speaker of the Student Senate shall be prescribed by the By Laws of the Association.

ARTICLE VII. JUDICIARY

Section 1. There is hereby created a supreme court for the students of the University of Nebraska at Omaha. Such court shall be designated as the Student Court.

Section 2. Composition and Terms of Office.

a. The Student Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and four Justices, who shall be members of the Student Government Association of UNO.

b. The Justices shall be appointed by the President of the SGA, with the advice and consent of the Student Senate. Their terms of office shall be one year, with three (3) terms expiring on the last day of the Spring semester, and the remaining two (2) terms (including that of the Chief Justice) expiring on the last day of the Fall semester. Student Court Justices may be reappointed as prescribed in Article V, Section 3.b. of this Constitution.

Section 3. Jurisdiction.

- The Student Court shall have jurisdiction over conflicts arising under this Constitution or the By Laws of the Association, rules and resolutions of the Student Senate, between and within student organizations, regarding student elections, and all other conflicts or disputes as deemed appropriate by a consensus of the three branches of the Student Government Association.
- The Student Court is the court of original jurisdiction in all cases involving students only.
- Vacancies on the Student Court shall be filled in accordance with the provisions of Article V, Section 3.b. of this Constitution.

ARTICLE VIII. IMPEACHMENT

Section 1. Impeachment of the Executive Officers of the Student Government Association, members of the Student Senate, and members of the Student Court may be initiated by the Student Senate in accordance with the provisions of this Constitution.

Section 2. Impeachment of Executive Officers and Student Senators may be initiated by resolution introduced in the Student Senate. The only grounds for impeachment is malfeasance in office. Articles of impeachment must be approved by a 2/3 affirmative vote of all Student Senators in office. Impeachment trials of Executive Officers and Student Senators will be held by the Student Court, with the Chief Justice presiding. Conviction by a majority vote of all Student Court Justices holding office will result in the immediate vacancy of the office held by the Executive Officer or Student Senator.

Section 3. Impeachment of Justices of the Student Court may be initiated by resolution introduced in the Student Senate. The only grounds for impeachment is malfeasance in office. Articles of impeachment must be approved by a 2/3 affirmative vote of all Student Senators in office. Impeachment trials will be held by the Student Senate, with the Speaker of the Senate acting as the Chief Judge. Conviction by a 3/4 affirmative vote of the Student Senators in office will result in the immediate vacancy of the office held by the convicted Student Court Justice.

ARTICLE IX. AMENDMENTS

Section 1. Propositions

Amendments to this Constitution may be proposed by a resolution introduced into the Student Senate. Student Senate approval of a proposed amendment must be by a 2/3 affirmative vote of a quorum of Senators.

Section 2. Publication

Proposed amendments must be published and made available to the members of the Student Government Association at least twice within three weeks prior to a regular Student Government Association election in March or November.

Section 3. Ratification

An amendment shall become part of this Constitution upon approval of a majority of the student votes cast at a regular election of the student body.

ARTICLE X. ENABLING ARTICLE

This Constitution shall become effective on December 1, 1975, and after receiving approval by a majority of the student votes cast in the October 1975 Student Government Association elections. Final approval shall be contingent upon approval by the Chancellor of the University of Nebraska at Omaha and by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska.
